MEMORANDUM FOR: Deputy Director of Security

SUBJECT : Inventory of the Dulles Papers

1. The Dulles papers now located in Room 4E-53 consist almost entirely (see below) of official classified U. S. Government correspondence and memoranda, most of it having originated within CIA or its predecessor organization. (The Dulles papers now stored in Room GE-42 consist solely of private correspondence and memorabilia which can be returned to the estate. It has been suggested that a final check be made of these papers to make certain no classified documents are still among them which I may have overlooked.)

2. The material in Room 4E-53 has been sorted and stored in various marked receptacles as follows:

25X1A

- I. One green metal four-drawer safe containing records of [] 1942-45. Top three drawers contain files and folders, bottom drawer is empty:

- II. DCI calendars, office diaries, records of phone conversations and appointments for the years 1951-1961. These are now stored in seven grey flip-top storage boxes by years and so marked. Diaries for all of 1960 and the first half of 1961 are missing and could not be found in the safes and boxes originally brought to Langley from the Dulles residence.

This material is not particularly explicit and is largely a record of names of persons inside and outside the Agency who were seen by the DCI or spoke to him on the phone and of meetings and conferences the DCI attended. [] suggested that this material could be destroyed.

25X1A9A

- III. The remaining material, originally found scattered in various safes and boxes taken from the Dulles residence, has been stored by category in thirteen grey flip-top boxes, marked as to contents, as follows:

1. U-2

Contains Top Secret verbatim transcript of DCI and others before Congressional Committees in May, June 1960; transcript of McCone-Eisenhower telephone conversation in 1964 re survival of pilot after ejection; briefings of DCI for appearance before Senate Committee (Helms, Bissell); Top Secret chronological account of handling of U-2 incident.

2. Cuba I - Bay of Pigs

- a. DCI's black loose-leaf notebook containing basic documents on planning of Bay of Pigs operation, some for briefing of President Kennedy (Top Secret); post mortem papers on reassignment of paramilitary responsibilities (Gen. Maxwell Taylor). Attached to inside top cover of notebook is an unopened envelope which says on outside: "Secret - Bissell letter to AWD re Cuban Missile Crisis."

- b. Manila envelope containing papers on IG survey of Cuban operation and miscellaneous papers on Cuba and Castro, newspaper publicity, etc.

3. Cuba II - Bay of Pigs

Drafts of Allen W. Dulles' article on Bay of Pigs for Harper's Magazine (which was never published).

4. White House

Three folders dated 1955-1957, 1958, Jan. - June 1959, containing correspondence between White House and DCI (President Eisenhower, General Goodpaster, Robert Cutler, Sherman Adams, Dr. Killian, General Persons, etc.) on a variety of matters large and small. Numerous Top Secret documents, one to Adams on size of CIA budget for 1958, on intelligence estimates on USSR guided missiles, some COMINT material [redacted]

7. DCI Trips

Briefing papers and records of trips on non-CIA government business in which Allen W. Dulles was guest or observer:

Eniwetok 1956 - Joint Task Force Seven
Dewline trip - 1959

25X1A

8. Attacks on CIA

Various material ranging from the McCarthy-Bundy affair (1953-56) and the Symington Missile Gap controversy to the Andrew Tully book and Drew Pearson.

9. Chrono I - Classified 1951-1957

10. Chrono II - Classified 1958-1962

These contain copies of correspondence and memos to and from DCI (intra-Agency and inter-Agency) stamped as classified and bearing on day-to-day business of the Agency arranged in chronological order. Also copies of cables and dispatches.

11. Chrono - Unclassified

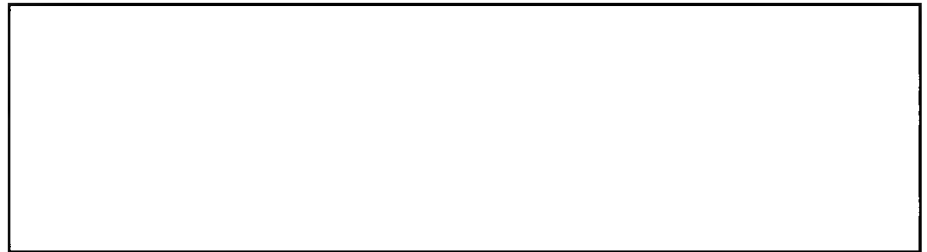

This material, taken from the same DCI Chrono files as the material in No. 9 and No. 10 above, constituted the disputed Category III in correspondence between Mr. Houston and the executors of the Dulles estate. Since these papers carry no mark of classification, it was felt at first that they could not be properly described as government property and so could be returned to the estate at some undetermined later date. On closer examination, however, all these papers, while generally not concerned with matters of national importance, were seen to be letters to or from private persons informally cooperating with the government in intelligence matters or offering their services or seeking employment or recommending others for employment by CIA, for which reason they were not classified. (For complete description see my memo of 10 September 1969 to the Deputy Director of Security.) It was felt that the release of these papers which could subject them to some form of public scrutiny might embarrass the writers or recipients of them or their heirs. It is clear that the persons who maintained correspondence of this sort with the DCI assumed that extreme care would be exercised in regard to their contact with CIA.
